Course Description:

HIST 1301 is an introductory survey course that examines the colonial origins of the United States and the growth of the Republic to 1876. We will discuss important political, social, and cultural developments in America during this time period. Topics will include: Colonial settlement, the American Revolution, the new Republic, the Civil War, and Reconstruction.

Learning Outcomes:

- 1) Students will gain factual knowledge of American history from 1492 to 1876.
- 2) Students will learn fundamental principles, generalizations, and theories pertaining to American history.
- 3) Students will learn to analyze and critically evaluate ideas, arguments, and points of view.
- 4) Students will continue to develop skills in expressing themselves orally and/or in writing.

Core Skill Objectives:

- 1) Critical Thinking: Students will be taught to think critically and analytically, and to ask appropriate questions about different historical societies and cultures, integrating and synthesizing knowledge they gain in the course, forming conclusions, and building an informed belief system from the complex of information presented in the course content.
- 2) Communication Skills: Communication skills will be addressed in this class through the reading and discussion of historical texts, attending lectures, and question/answer periods during class. Visual aids such as films and photographs will be used during presentation of the course material. Students will learn through the use of historical materials to critically evaluate the time periods in which these materials originated.
- 3) Personal Responsibility: Personal responsibility will be addressed in this course as students develop organizational skills and study habits through note taking, discussion participation, exam preparation, and the completion of class assignments in a timely manner.
- 4) Social Responsibility: Social responsibility will be addressed in this course as students learn to apply course material to present-day events. Students will also be able to use these critical thinking and communication skills in future college courses and potential career paths.

Make-up Policy:

Pay attention to due dates and schedule accordingly. Exams must be completed by their respective due dates. Make-ups will only be allowed for medical emergencies, religious holidays, or mandatory school functions (documentation will be required). Due dates are firm.

Attendance and Classroom Conduct:

This is a fully online class so attendance will not be taken. However, it is your responsibility to keep up with the readings and assignments. Even though I won't be taking attendance you will still need to devote time each day to this class. Due dates are firm; late work will be heavily penalized and only accepted under extenuating circumstances. Students are expected to check their email and log in to Blackboard every day. I will respond to emails and other communication within 48 hours.

Students are expected to show respect to both the professor and each other. Any online discussions or communication must be conducted with maturity, civility, and mutual respect.

Online Learning:

The instruction for online learning classes is delivered via the Internet. Students must have access to a computer and Internet services. Students enrolling in online classes are expected to login to their classes before the end of the first day of the class. Students having any difficulties should contact the SHSU Online Support Desk (contact information is listed at <http://online.shsu.edu/campus/support-desk/>).

Students should log into their course in Blackboard every day. Technology issues (Internet service unavailable, losing a file, etc.) are not an excuse for late work. Be sure to complete your work early and submit before the assignment deadline. You should also make a backup copy of your files in case you need to resubmit.

Withdrawal Policy:

Check the academic calendar for deadlines to drop a class with a "Q" grade. Make sure to notify your instructor if you plan to drop/withdraw from this class.

I will not drop anyone. It is your responsibility to drop this course. Do not assume that you will be dropped for low grades or non-attendance. You will simply make an F for this class.

Final Exam Schedule:

The final exam for this class will be administered online. It will open on Monday 12/4 and must be completed by Wednesday 12/6. The Unit IV Exam is your final exam.

Academic Dishonesty:

The University expects all students to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner that is above reproach. Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. Any student found guilty of dishonesty in any phase of academic work will be subject to disciplinary action.

5.31 The University and its official representatives, acting in accordance with Subsection 5.32, may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of any form of academic dishonesty including, but not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, and the abuse of resource materials. "Cheating" includes the following and similar actions:

(1) Copying from another student's test paper, laboratory report, other report, or computer files, data listings, and/or programs.

(2) Using, during a test, materials not authorized by the person giving the test.

(3) Collaborating, without authorization, with another student during an examination or in preparing academic work.

(4) Knowingly, and without authorization, using, buying, selling, stealing, transporting, soliciting, copying, or possessing, in whole or in part, the contents of an unadministered test.

(5) Substituting for another student, permitting any other person, or otherwise assisting any other person to substitute for oneself or for another student in the taking of an examination or test or the preparation of academic work to be submitted for academic credit.

(6) Bribing another person to obtain a test or information about an unadministered test.

(7) Purchasing, or otherwise acquiring and submitting as one's own work any research paper or other writing assignment prepared by an individual or firm. This section does not apply to the typing of the rough and/or final versions of an assignment by a professional typist.

5.32 "Plagiarism" means the appropriation and the unacknowledged incorporation of another's work or idea into one's own work offered for credit.

5.33 "Collusion" means unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing work for credit.

5.34 "Abuse of resource materials" means the mutilation, destruction, concealment, theft or alteration of materials provided to assist students in the mastery of course materials.

5.35 "Academic work" means the preparation of an essay, dissertation, thesis, report, problem, assignment, or other project that the student submits as a course requirement or for a grade.

2.00 Procedures in cases of alleged academic dishonesty

2.01 Procedures for discipline due to academic dishonesty shall be the same as in disciplinary actions specified in The Texas State University System Rules and Regulations and Sam Houston State University Student Guidelines except that all academic dishonesty actions shall be first considered and reviewed by the faculty member teaching the class. The faculty member may impose failure or reduction of a grade in a test or the course, and/or performing additional academic work not required of other students in the course. If the faculty member believes that additional disciplinary action is necessary, as in the case of flagrant or repeated violations, the case may be referred to the Dean of Student Life or a designated appointee for further action. If the student involved does not accept the decision of the faculty member, the student may appeal to the chair of the appropriate academic department/school, seeking reversal of the faculty member's decision.

2.02 If the student does not accept the decision of the chair of the academic department/school, he/she may appeal to the appropriate academic dean. The chair of the academic department/school may also refer the case directly to the academic dean if the case so warrants.

Students with Disabilities Policy:

It is the policy of Sam Houston State University that individuals otherwise qualified shall not be excluded, solely by reason of their disability, from participation in any academic program of the university. Further, they shall not be denied the benefits of these programs nor shall they be subjected to discrimination. Students with disabilities that might affect their academic performance are expected to visit with the Office of Services for Students with Disabilities located in the Counseling Center. They should then make arrangements with their individual instructors so that appropriate strategies can be considered and helpful procedures can be developed to ensure that participation and achievement opportunities are not impaired.

SHSU adheres to all applicable federal, state, and local laws, regulations, and guidelines with respect to providing reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities. If you have a disability that may affect adversely your work in this class, then I encourage you to register with the SHSU Counseling Center and to talk with me about how I can best help you. All disclosures of disabilities will be kept strictly confidential. NOTE: No accommodation can be made until you register with the Counseling Center.

Absences for Religious Holy Days:

Section 51.911(b) of the Texas Education Code requires that an institution of higher education excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day, including travel for that purpose. Section 51.911 (a) (2) defines a religious holy day as: "a holy day observed by a religion whose places of worship are exempt from property taxation under Section 11.20...." A student whose absence is excused under this subsection may not be penalized for that absence and shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment from which the student is excused within a reasonable time after the absence.

University policy 861001 provides the procedures to be followed by the student and instructor. A student desiring to absent himself/herself from a scheduled class in order to observe (a) religious holy day(s) shall present to each instructor involved a written statement concerning the religious holy day(s). The instructor will complete a form notifying the student of a reasonable timeframe in which the missed assignments and/or examinations are to be completed.

Visitors in the Classroom:

Only registered students may attend class. Exceptions can be made on a case-by-case basis by the professor. In all cases, visitors must not present a disruption to the class by their attendance. Students wishing to audit a class must apply to do so through the Registrar's Office.

Changes to Syllabus:

While every attempt has been made to prepare this syllabus and class schedule in final form, it will be the instructor's prerogative to make any changes as may be deemed necessary in order to meet the learning outcomes of the course. Students will be notified of any change.
