- 2) Workbook for Tonal Harmony, 7th edition (Kostka/Payne/Almen)
- 3) Staff paper; pencils and erasers

Course Description:

Music Theory III provides an in-depth study of chromatic harmony, including secondary functions, modal borrowing and the Neapolitan. Formal structural designs such as binary, ternary, Rondo and Sonata are also covered. Special emphasis is given to harmonic analysis, phrase/periodic design, and part writing.

Co-enrollment:

Students in Music Theory III should also be enrolled in Musicianship III to ensure maximum success in learning the fundamental concepts of Western music. Please notify your instructor immediately if you are not currently co-enrolled.

Class Participation:

When you come to class be prepared to participate in discussions and other activities involving the assigned readings. Bring your questions to class! Students who have not brought their materials, are sleeping in class, are not paying attention, or are disrupting the learning environment may be asked to leave class and will be counted absent for that class period.

Theory Department Attendance and Tardy Policy:

Your instructor will take classroom attendance at the beginning of every class.

Regular and punctual attendance is expected throughout the semester. University policy permits 3 classroom hours of unexcused absence without penalty per semester (T Th = 2 absences). For each additional unexcused absence, 3 points will be deducted from your final grade. Arriving late to class twice = 1 unexcused absence; once roll has been taken, you are officially late to class. Excused absences include: official university functions or illnesses with appropriate documentation. If you anticipate a legitimate absence on a test date, contact your instructor at least one week in advance so that plans can be coordinated for any quizzes or exams. Make-up Exams are at the discretion of the instructor. You are responsible for all assignments and material covered on the days of your absence.

Classroom Etiquette:

Students will not be allowed to have food in the classroom, except for drinks in a closed container. Students may not use cell phones or other electronic devices such as laptops, iPods, etc., during class. Students may not use offensive language or be disrespectful to other members in the class. It is essential to have a positive learning environment so that you and your colleagues can do your best in the class.

Neatness:

All work to be graded should be neat, legible, and done in pencil. Any work the instructor considers to be illegible will not be graded and you will not receive credit. If you have a question about the quality of your work, ask your instructor before you turn it in to be graded. In addition, all homework assignments must be stapled. It is a good idea to buy a small stapler and keep it in your backpack – you will become very popular with your peers if you have one!

Homework Policy:

Homework should be turned in before class starts. Your instructor will give you specific procedural information. Late assignments will not be accepted unless you have received advanced permission from your instructor.

Prerequisite courses must be passed with a grade of C or higher for promotion to the next level.

SHSU Theory department tutoring policy:

Each student has his/her own unique areas of strengths and weaknesses. If you are falling behind in a certain area and are not able to visit your instructor during scheduled office hours, feel free to contact them via email to arrange a time to meet that will fit your schedule. In addition, a department tutor will also be available for free tutoring throughout the semester.

University Policy on Academic Dishonesty:

The Faculty Handbook states that the University expects all students to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner that is above reproach. Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. Any student found guilty of dishonesty in any phase of academic work will be subject to disciplinary action. Furthermore, the University and its official representatives may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of any form of academic dishonesty including, but not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work which is to be submitted, plagiarism, collusion, and the abuse of resource materials. In sum: do your own work! Working on homework assignments with your friends and classmates is not acceptable; this is an example of collusion.

More on Classroom Demeanor and Rules of Conduct:

Students will refrain from behavior in the classroom that intentionally or unintentionally disrupts the learning process and, thus, the mission of the University. Please turn off or mute your cell phone before class. Students are prohibited from eating in class, using tobacco products, making offensive remarks, reading newspapers, sleeping, talking among each other at inappropriate times, wearing inappropriate clothing, or engaging in any other form of distraction. Inappropriate behavior in the classroom shall result in a, minimally, directive to leave class, or being reported to the Dean of Students for disciplinary action in accordance with the University policy.

American with Disabilities Act:

SHSU adheres to all applicable federal, state, and local laws, regulations, and guidelines with respect to providing reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities. If you have a disability that may adversely affect your work in the class, you are encouraged to register with the SHSU Counseling Center and to talk with your instructor how best we can serve you. All disclosures of disabilities will be kept strictly confidential. No accommodation can be made until you register with the Counseling Center.

Student Absences on Religious Holidays Policy:

Section 51.911 (b) of the Texas Education Code requires that an institution of higher education excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day, including travel for that purpose. A student whose absence is excused under this subsection may not be penalized for that absence and shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment from which the student is excused within a reasonable time after the absence. University policy 861001 provides the procedures to be followed by the student and instructor. A student desiring to be absent himself/herself from a scheduled class in order to observe (a) a religious holy day(s) shall present to each instructor involved a written statement concerning the religious holy day(s). This request must be made in the first 15 days of the semester or the first 7 days of a summer session in which the absence(s) will occur. The instructor will complete a form notifying the student of a reasonable timeframe in which the missed assignments and/or examinations are to be completed.
