Overview: This is a general course on programming languages. We will look at the history of programming languages, language paradigms, language parsing, common features of programming languages, object-oriented programming, programming language support for parallel programming, compiler and run-time support for languages and examples of the diversity of programming languages.

Prerequisites: Programming experience.

Text: Concepts of Programming Languages, Robert W. Sebesta. Current edition is 11.

Grading: Grades will be recorded using a point system with 1,000 total points.

There will be two semester exams and a final exam. Each exam will be worth 200 points. Except for extremely unusual circumstances, no make-up exams will be given.

There will be several programming and homework (non-programming) assignments. There may also be written assignments and presentations. These assignments will sum to 400 points. I will normally accept late assignments up to one week late with a 20% late penalty however I may announce that an assignment will not be accepted late.

	Points	Total Points	Final Grade
Exams	600	895-1000	A
Assignments	400	795-894	B
	1000	695-794	C
		595-694	D
		0-594	F

Attendance: Students are required to attend class and are responsible for all material covered in class.

Demeanor: Students will refrain from behavior in the classroom that disrupts the learning process.

Academic Dishonesty: Unless I explicitly state otherwise, all assignments in this course are individual assignments. This means that each student must fully develop his or her own solutions. Students are not allowed to work together on any assignment. Do not copy any one else's assignment and do not allow your assignment to be copied.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY:

All students are expected to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner that is above reproach. Students are expected to maintain honesty and integrity in the academic experiences both in and out of the classroom. Any student found guilty of dishonesty in any phase of academic work will be subject to disciplinary action. The University and its official representatives may initiate disciplinary proceedings against a student accused of any form of academic dishonesty including but not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work which is to be submitted, plagiarism, collusion and the abuse of resource materials. For a complete listing of the university policy, see:

Dean of Student's Office

STUDENT ABSENCES ON RELIGIOUS HOLY DAYS POLICY:

Section 51.911(b) of the Texas Education Code requires that an institution of higher education excuse a student from attending classes or other required activities, including examinations, for the observance of a religious holy day, including travel for that purpose. Section 51.911 (a) (2) defines a religious holy day as: "a holy day observed by a religion whose places of worship are exempt from property taxation under Section 11.20...." A student whose absence is excused under this subsection may not be penalized for that absence and shall be allowed to take an examination or complete an assignment from which the student is excused within a reasonable time after the absence.

University policy 861001 provides the procedures to be followed by the student and instructor. A student desiring to absent himself/herself from a scheduled class in order to observe (a) religious holy day(s) shall present to each instructor involved a written statement concerning the religious holy day(s). The instructor will complete a form notifying the student of a reasonable timeframe in which the missed assignments and/or examinations are to be completed. ### STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES POLICY:

It is the policy of Sam Houston State University that individuals otherwise qualified shall not be excluded, solely by reason of their disability, from participation in any academic program of the university. Further, they shall not be denied the benefits of these programs nor shall they be subjected to discrimination. Students with disabilities that might affect their academic performance should register with the Office of Services for Students with Disabilities located in the Lee Drain Annex (telephone 936-294-3512, TDD 936-294-3786, and e-mail disability@shsu.edu). They should then make arrangements with their individual instructors so that appropriate strategies can be considered and helpful procedures can be developed to ensure that participation and achievement opportunities are not impaired.

SHSU adheres to all applicable federal, state, and local laws, regulations, and guidelines with respect to providing reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities. If you have a disability that may affect adversely your work in this class, then I encourage you to register with the SHSU Services for Students with Disabilities and to talk with me about how I can best help you. All disclosures of disabilities will be kept strictly confidential. NOTE: No accommodation can be made until you register with the Services for Students with Disabilities.
