COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

You have elected to take an online course that will require you to dedicate enough time each week to cover the required material. You will have one lesson due by midnight every Wednesday. Please manage your time wisely – if you get behind, you are effectively doomed. Please heed this warning – MANAGE YOUR TIME! Don't get scared off – this is very do-able – you just have to stay on top of everything. It has been my experience that students who complete their work early score better on assignments than those who wait to the last minute; however, it is up to you to manage the lessons as you see fit.

The course consists of an orientation followed by 12 lessons. Each lesson has a checklist that gives you the reading assignment and the stated objectives for that assignment. You will also notice a section entitled "Chief's Corner". The Chief's Corner sections are basically my (and other officers') reflections on the material. I may try to add something that's not included elsewhere, clarify what may be confusing, and / or provide you with some "war stories" based upon my (and other officers') experiences. In some of these Chief's Corner sections I draw heavily from material produced by a dear friend of mine, Chief Dave Barber (Ret.) who once taught a similar course. Make sure you read the writings in the Chief's Corner – it will be tested material. The Chief's Corner will be followed by your assignment for that lesson. This will generally consist of a short writing assignment that may require some kind of Internet research to dig up pertinent information. Please don't use Wiki – it is not generally considered to be a trusted source. You must cite your source – every time. Failure to cite is considered plagiarism and will not be tolerated. It WILL cost you points, failure, expulsion, and all sorts of bad things. Writing is expected to be of University level quality, including grammar, punctuation, spelling, etc. There will be PowerPoint presentations associated with each lesson. These are there to help you but are not a substitute for reading the assigned material. All of this will be followed by a 10-question quiz that you will have 15 minutes to take. Be familiar with the material, as you will not have much time to browse through notes, books, etc. Read each question carefully and choose the most correct answer. Make sure you save and submit your answers at the end of the quiz. If you get kicked off the computer, you can get back in but your time keeps on running so don't dawdle. For any other technical difficulties, call the SHSU Service Desk at (936) 294-1950.

In addition to the reading materials, assignments, and quizzes, there will be a final exam that will consist of 50 questions. The final will be comprehensive.

When you log into Blackboard you will see a list of Lessons (Lesson 1, Lesson 2, etc.) down the left side of the page under the Course Content section. Each lesson has a Due Date beside it. THE LESSONS ARE DUE BY 11:59 P.M. ON THAT DATE (NOT 12:01 A.M. OR 1:30 A.M. OR ANY OTHER TIME) – NO EXCEPTIONS. IF YOU DO NOT COMPLETE THE WEEKLY LESSON BY THE DUE DATE AND TIME, YOU WILL RECEIVE A GRADE OF "0" FOR THAT LESSON. DO NOT EMAIL ME AND ASK FOR ADDITIONAL TIME TO COMPLETE THE LESSON.

When you click on a particular lesson you will be taken to a page that is laid out something similar to the following:

Lesson 1

- Objectives
- Checklist

Work your way through the list, culminating with the quiz.

EXTRA CREDIT

Book review of The Alienist by Caleb Carr – Read The Alienist and prepare a written review (no more than 5 pages) of the book, comparing investigation techniques from then to now. This is a fictional story set in historically accurate NYC around the turn of the century (late 1800s - early 1900s). It involves a set of serial murders that occur and the investigation thereof. The murders are investigated by an Alienist, a reporter, and a couple of NYPD detectives. This all occurs during the time that new and unproven crime scene techniques are being postulated. The investigators try a number of techniques - some work, some do not.

Prepare a written review of the book, comparing investigative techniques from then to those of today that you've learned about in this course. This includes telling me what an Alienist is. The report should be at least 5 pages in length, excluding cover / citation pages (12 pt font, double spaced). It must be of University level quality and will be graded accordingly. You can earn up to 40 points for the assignment. This is generally enough to move you from one letter grade to the next if you do exceptional work.

It is an interesting book - I hope you enjoy it. You may email me the report in a standard word doc upon completion.

MAKE UP EXAMS:

Examination / Quiz deadlines will be posted. Since this is an online class, there are few excuses for missing an exam / quiz. As such, make up exams / quizzes in general are not on the horizon. Nevertheless, if you run into some cataclysmic event that prevents you from testing, let me know and we will try to work something out. I will be the final judge of whether your excuse is cataclysmic enough to warrant a make-up exam / quiz.

Warning: I may tough to convince.
