The Pre-Law Learning Community at Sam Houston State University is a one-of-a-kind program for students interested in legal careers. The cohort allows like-minded students to explore opportunities in the legal field, participate in activities that provide information about law schools and law-related professions, and engage with legal professionals. Students in the pre-law cohort have the opportunity to take a Mock LSAT, attend seminars on graduate and law schools, participate in a Mock Law Class, and take field trips to law schools. With one of the largest groups of pre-law students in the country, SHSU's Pre-Law Learning Community is a great way to get a head start on your law career!
