

Sam Houston State University Faculty Handbook

Revised Mar 2016

General Information

Preface

The Faculty Handbook is an official Sam Houston State University (SHSU) publication designed to provide guidelines and explanations to the faculty concerning policies and procedures under which the University operates. Faculty may refer to the channels of administration, the various administrative offices and the committees described in this handbook for further information and guidance.

There is an expectation that each faculty member will become acquainted with and conform to all the policies and procedures, Rules and Regulations of the Board of Regents of the Texas State University System, and all other official publications relating to their appointment and to the accomplishment of their work and positions as faculty members of Sam Houston State University.

The policies in this handbook are current at the time of its publication; however all University policies and rules are subject to change without prior notice. Additionally the Board of Regents will adopt changes to its Rules and Regulations and that will alter some of the policies stated herein. All effort has been made to address conflicts, but in the unlikely event of any conflict between the Faculty Handbook and the Board of Regents Rules and Regulations, the Board of Regents Rules and Regulations have precedence.

Commitment to Affirmative Action and Equal Opportunity

Sam Houston State University declares and reaffirms a policy of equal employment opportunity, equal educational opportunity, and non- discrimination in the provision of educational and other services to the public.

Sam Houston State University reaffirms its policy of administering all educational programs and related supporting services and benefits in a manner which does not discriminate because of a student's or prospective student's race, color, creed or religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, or other characteristic which cannot lawfully form the basis for provision of such service.

It is the University policy that each applicant will be considered for employment solely on qualifications for the position without regard for race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, disability, or prior military service. Also, the University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer, and vigorously supports nondiscriminatory policies in the initial employment process and in advancement opportunities for our employees.

Description and Governance of Texas Higher Education

Final authority for Texas higher education rests with the Legislature, which creates all public institutions; makes all appropriations; determines policy; accepts or overrules decisions of the Coordinating Board; and influences appointments through the advice and consent powers of the Senate.

The Texas Legislature sets broad policy, while delegating implementation to appropriate officials. The legislature has responsibility for financing public higher education, and authorizes funding methods to promote educational quality while demanding effective resource management and accountability.

Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board

The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, was created under that name by the Texas Legislature in 1965 for the purpose of achieving excellence for college education through efficient and effective utilization and concentration of all available resources and eliminating costly duplication in program offerings, facilities, and physical plants. Additional duties are assigned by the Legislature from time to time. The Board reports biennially to the Governor and Legislature on statewide needs in higher education. This board serves as a planning body to advise the Legislature on higher education and to coordinate designated services statewide.

Institutions comprising The Texas State University System and governed by this board are: Lamar University - Beaumont, Lamar University - Orange, Lamar University - Port Arthur, Lamar University Institute of Technology, Sam Houston State University, Texas State University – San Marcos, Sul Ross State University, and Sul Ross Rio Grande College. Curriculum

Curricular Changes and Textbook Adoption

Before any course may be taught, it must be cleared through the channels of the University administration and approved by the Board of Regents and the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board. Any major change in existing courses or proposals for a new course is accomplished by the same procedures. Please see the Curriculum Development and Evaluation section of this handbook.

If a textbook is to be used in a course, it is selected by the teacher or teachers of the course in consultation with the department chair. Reasonably close correlation between the contents of the textbook and the catalog description of the course is advisable. All sections of a multi-section course are expected to use the same textbook. This should not be construed to mean, however, that a faculty member must use that textbook if the individual disagrees with the choice for substantial reasons. In such cases the faculty member shall present the reasons in writing to the chair and dean. All departments on campus should include, in the final decision-making process for selecting texts, all full-time faculty members who will be involved in teaching a multi-section course. An adoption of a text should, in most cases, be for a period of several years. The procedures for the requisition of textbooks and related instructional materials are set forth in Academic Policy Statement 860211, "University Textbook Requisition Procedure."

Sam Houston State University follows the policy of The Texas State University System, Board of Regents regarding charges for outlines, syllabi and similar materials, addressed in Rules and Regulations, Chapter V, Subsection 4.84, "Textbooks and Other Course Materials."

Curriculum Development and Evaluation

The responsibility for curriculum development lies primarily with the faculty. Curriculum development typically is initiated by faculty at the departmental level and subsequently progresses through college and university reviews for internal recommendations and approval. Issues of academic content, quality and effectiveness are addressed in the curriculum development.

The Curriculum Committee is responsible for reviewing the curriculum submissions to determine if information provided for new courses is complete, to analyze proposed additions and changes in course titles to avoid possible overlap or duplication, and to work toward potential problem solutions before the matters are discussed by the Academic Affairs Council. Committee members must be knowledgeable of their college's curriculum submissions and able to respond to most questions that arise.

Conflicts between the final recommendations of the Academic Affairs Council and reports originally submitted by the Deans, will be resolved individually between the Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs and the appropriate dean. (Continued on next page)

The Curriculum Report which bears the endorsement of the Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs shall be prepared in proper format and will be presented to the President by the Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs for inclusion in The Texas State University System's Board of Regents Meeting agenda, as detailed in The Texas State University System's, Board of Regents' Rules and Regulations, Chapter III, Subsection 5.1, "Curriculum Procedures."

Academic Issues and Procedures

Academic Advisement and Mentoring

The Student Advising and Mentoring Center (SAM Center) was established in 2002 to accommodate academic advising of undergraduate students and to provide mentoring programs for all students to help them succeed in their academic programs. A cadre of faculty and professional advisors is available to help students with the planning and execution of their academic pursuits. Students have access to trained, expert advisors who can explain all aspects of the academic experience. Advisors become students' guides through their tenure at the University. The SAM Center offers a wide variety of mentoring programs for all students, such as study skills, GRE preparation, and an inspirational lecture series by successful professionals. The SAM Center designs programs to help individual students and works directly with faculty and administrators to help students with individual classes.

Academic Dishonesty

The University expects students to engage in all academic pursuits in a manner that is above reproach. Students are expected to maintain complete honesty and integrity in the academic experience both in and out of the classroom. Accusations of academic dishonesty, proceedings and subsequent disciplinary actions are addressed in The Texas State University System, Board of Regents policy on Academic Honesty, Chapter VI, Subsection 5.3, "Academic Honesty" and in the University's Academic Policy Statement 810213, "Procedures in Cases of Academic Dishonesty."

Attendance Initiative

Sam Houston State University, adhering to federally mandated guidelines has instituted the following guidelines defining the way in which student attendance data is recorded.

A. Initial Enrollment Verification (first day of class through twelfth class day)

For each class, faculty members will need to verify enrollments from the first day of class through the census date on the twelfth class day by use of the student roster. To access student rosters, faculty log onto My Sam, click on the Faculty tab at the top of the page and then click on the link to the summary class list (roster) listed under the Faculty Self Service Links.

Around the twelfth class day, faculty will have access to the Attendance Initiative computer program which will allow identification of those students who have never attended class. Student(s) will be contacted by the Registrar's Office and informed about the consequences of not attending, as well as the consequences of attending the incorrect section. This will help reduce the number of students not attending at all or attending the incorrect section. The University does not receive any state funding for students registering after the twelfth class day.

Required Action:

- 1) From the first day of class through the census date on the twelfth class day faculty members will need to verify enrollments by use of the student roster.
- 2) Around the twelfth class day, use the Attendance Initiative program to mark the students who have "never attended" class.
- 3) If there are students attending class who are not listed on the roster, please have them visit the Registrar's Office to correct their schedules before the twelfth class day.

B. Attendance Initiative

Faculty members will need to access the Attendance Initiative program. To access this program, they need to log on to the SAM Web (not SAM menu), then go to Faculty Reports and select the Attendance Initiative program. The password for this program is either your social security number or SAM ID. It is a simple program. Faculty will merely need to check those students who have NOT attended and then hit the save button. It is important that faculty respond in a timely manner to this program. Select this link to access an Attendance Initiative Tutorial with detailed instructions.

C. First Alert – a support program of the SAM Center (twelfth class day through last day of class)

The First Alert program, established by and maintained through the SAM Center, is designed to work with faculty-identified students who appear to be performing poorly in class. SAM Center staff will contact these students who have been identified by a faculty member as needing help because of difficulties with attendance and/or grades. Faculty can contact the SAM Center through this electronic referral or by paper to alert the Center of their concerns. (Continued on next page)

Required Action:

- 1) Use the respective class roster and identify any student(s) of concern. Inform the SAM Center staff about the student behaviors causing concern. This process can take place anytime throughout the semester. Past research has suggested that early identification is associated with greater degrees of success.

D. Title IV Funding Requirements – grading period

As an institution that participates in federal student aid programs, Sam Houston State University is required to track student attendance. According to federal guidelines, the University must return any unused financial aid funds if the student receives grades of “F” in all courses. Financial aid is disbursed at the beginning of each semester and is to be used to pay for educational expenses throughout the semester. Once the student ceases enrollment, the unearned portion is returned to the U.S. Department of Education. Students who receive all grades of “F” are considered “dropouts” by definition of the United States Department of Education. We are therefore required to determine the student’s last day of attendance or “dropout date.” Once the last day of attendance is determined, the institution and the students are required to return the unearned portions of their federal financial aid. Title IV guidelines provide for the calculation of funds that need to be returned. Under these guidelines, the University is required to return the unused Title IV funds to the Department of Education. Although the student account will be charged, SHSU will only recoup their funds if the students repay them. Thus, the University is potentially liable for a large amount of money.

Required Action:

- 1) When assigning a student a grade of “F”, the online grade entry program will require the faculty member to enter the student’s last day of attendance.

Attendance Policy for Class

The attendance policy for class including both student and faculty responsibilities is specifically addressed in Academic Policy Statement 800401, “Class Attendance.”

These records are to be made available to external auditors and the University’s Office of Audits and Analysis upon request. Visitors in the Classroom

In the event an unannounced visitor attends a class, the instructor should request identification in the form of a current and official Sam Houston State University Bearkat OneCard identification card. If the visitor is not a registered Sam Houston State University student, the faculty member should act at their own discretion or refer the visitor to the department chair.

This policy is not intended to discourage the occasional visiting of classes by responsible persons. Obviously, however, the visiting of a particular class should be occasional and not regular, and it should in no way constitute interference with registered members of the class or the instruction thereof
