5. Publication and Research (in Progress):

A. Current Grant-related Research/Publication in Progress:

- Completed a study on "Documenting the effectiveness of preparing teachers to educate culturally and linguistically diverse students and to advocate for social justice". The study was published in Mid-TESOL Journal 2017 and will be presented at NABE 2018.

B. Current non-grant-related Research/Publication in Progress:

- Currently working on a research project with another colleague in the area of inclusion of TESOL teacher training and reform of teacher education for 21st Century.
- Currently working on a reference book in the area of TESOL and meeting the needs of ELs who are Muslim in US public schools.

- Established a mutual educational exchange program between Emporia State University and the University of Sultan Moulay Slimane, in Beni Mellal, Morocco.

6. Curriculum Development and Program Improvement Achievements:

- 1999-2017 MA TESOL Director at Emporia State University. As director of these programs, I have been completing and submitting TESOL Teacher Education Program Annual Assessment Reports for both Kansas State Department and NCATE Reviews. Thus far, I prepared two successful KSDE and NCATE Accreditation Reviews for ESU's TESOL Teacher Education Programs.
- 2001-2013: Federal NPD Grant Projects Director. Responsibilities include: Multi-Million Dollar Budget Design and Management, Curriculum Development for Professional Development, Faculty and Staff Recruitment, Faculty and Staff Evaluation and Supervision, Program Evaluation and Supervision. I was also responsible for completing and submitting annual reports to the US Department of Education, Office of English Language Acquisition.
- Fall 2004, designed a Master's TESOL program at Emporia State University. I wrote a proposal, including its curriculum design, following the Board of Regents criteria. In Spring 2005 the proposal was submitted for university-wide and Board of Regents approval. The MA TESOL Program was approved in January 2006 and launched in Fall of 2006.
- 1999-2017, I have been responsible for collecting data for state and federal annual program assessment reports and the NCATE reviews as part of my participation in NCATE Steering Committee and as a trained National NCATE Reviewer. Data assessment has been collected from all program courses from both grant and regular program completers. A follow-up survey is mailed to completers every two years. Program matrixes and charts are prepared and a system has been developed. Follow-up studies research published in several professional journals and presented at national and international conferences.
- 1999-2017 I improved the TESOL programs (both the MA TESOL program and TESOL Teacher Licensure programs) since I came to ESU in 1999. I aligned the programs with the Teachers College Conceptual Framework, TESOL Teacher Education Standards, and The State Professional Standards. As program director, I was responsible for preparing the Annual State Assessment Reports and Annual Assessment reports for the university. These reports include collection of data processes based on the state standards in TESOL teacher education, use of findings from assessment data, and documenting actions taken for program improvement.

7. Technology Knowledge and Skills (Web-authoring and Program design):

- Incorporated my technology knowledge and experience in publishing a book in the area of CALLT and STEM to empower ELs and their teachers. The book will soon (Summer 2018) be published by Rowman & Littlefield-Lexington Books.
- Mastery of Computer technology applications that pertain to the areas of TESOL and Applied Linguistics.
- Designed a graduate course for the MA TESOL program in the area of Computer-Assisted-Language Learning and Teaching. Launched and taught the course in the MATESOL Program at Emporia State University for 11 years until Summer 2017.

- Integrated CALLT in other courses such as the TESOL methods course.
- 2000-2017 Developed a cutting-edge Online TESOL Teacher Education Program Model that has received national and international recognition (see for example Faison 2005 and Sehlaoui et al., 2005 and 2009) presentation and publication at the 2005 ATE Year book and International Journal of technology, Knowledge, and Society.
- 1999-2017: Served as Department Webmaster.
- Spring 2007, volunteered to incorporate the Classroom Performance System (CPS) software in Language Assessment and Evaluation Graduate Course, a required course in the MA TESOL program.
- Redesigned online courses, added new features, and continuously revised assessment techniques.
- As a result of my knowledge and skills in this area, the TESOL Teacher Education Program has an online version running since the academic year of 2000. This aspect of the current program formed the basis for awarded federal grants and the MA TESOL program proposal. This is a unique Online TESOL Teacher Education program in the state of Kansas, not only is it the first of its kind, but also has an online mode of delivery. The program recruits students from all states and from all over the world.
- ESU was the only institution in the state to offer both the TESOL licensure and MA TESOL degree via e-learning in 2000. Since 2000, I have been able to design, launch, and pilot-test the first classes using tools such as WebCT, Communicator, Dreamweaver, FTP protocol, and Blackboard, and later Canvas as Learning Management programs to design courses, author and publish webpages, and deliver effective instruction and assessment. I also designed: 1) online evaluation forms for federal grant projects and the regular TESOL program (using web-authoring software), 2) online pre-post-tests (using LMS software), and 3) online application/advisement forms. This solid foundation allowed me to write grant proposals to face the challenge of reaching out remote rural areas in Kansas and nation-wide.
- Designed exams and a comprehensive examinations that were administered totally online. These rigorous tests provided valuable training to preservice and inservice teachers as well as MA TESOL candidates as a preparation for their required PRAXIS Exam.
- Designed and published the disposition assessment form online as part of collecting data for program effectiveness purposes for both Federal Grant-related reporting and for meeting state requirements in TESOL teacher education.
